Percy B. Spenr. To the Editor of the Evening Telegraph.

The newspapers of to-day credit the American Board of Missions with the endorsement and appointment of Percy B. Spear as an Indian agent. This is incorrect. Mr. Spear was recommended to the President by the "American Church Missionary Society," a partisan society, outside of any control of the General Convention of the Church. The Board of Missions is the only authorized agency of the whole Church for mission work, and it is constituted without reference to any party predilections. The American Church Missionary Society is the voluntary agency of a minority of extreme men who claim to represent the "evangelical" sentiment of the Church. Their unfortunate selection seems to show that men may be so blinded by party prejudice that they sometimes fail to discover a want of moral principle. As the Board of Missions did not make this nomination, and as the Church is no wise responsible for it (save as the act of individual members). I will be glad if you will make this correction.

A LAYMAN.

PRETTY FEMALE COUNTERFEITERS.

Shoving the Queer-A New Field for Women. The Cincinnati Gazette of Friday last has the following:-Marshal Van Sandt, of Middletown, Butler county, arrived in this city this morning with a couple of very interesting female prisoners, whom he had picked up in his bailiwick on the charge of having in their possession and passing counterfeit money.

The girls are named Gertrude and Mollie Stadtfeldt, and are aged twenty and sixteen respectively. They hall from Dayton, Ohio, where their father, Nicholas Stadtfeldt, runs a match

Their plan was to visit the groceries and dry goods stores and buy small bills, presenting each time a counterfeit ten-dollar national bank bill, and receive good money in exchange.

They were arrested and arraigned before a village magistrate, who held them until they could be taken in charge by a Deputy United States Marshal and brought to the city for trial. After the arrest of the girls, an investigation disclosed the fact that bills of the same kind had been passed in the village by the mother of the girls, the week previous, and that the brother also had been engaged in the business. Yesterday the father came down from Dayton and made an effort to redeem all of the bills, with a view to destroying the evidence against the girls, but only succeeded in getting a few of them. The specimens obtained by the Marshal are very fair, although not sufficiently well executed to escape detection by an ordinary judge.

The girls admit that they passed the bills, but claim to have been ignorant of the fact that they were counterfeit. Their story is that while on their way from Dayton to Middletown last Tuesday, the younger sister, Mollie, found the roll on the floor of the car.

This story being considered too "thin," the Commissioner, in default of $1000 bail each, committed them to jail to await future examination. The counterfeits are all upon the National Bank of Ponghkeepsie, New York. Gertrude, the elder, is a fine-looking specimen of the brunette type, while her sister is a perfect blonde. Both girls are quite good-looking and intelligent. Gertrude seemed to take matters quite coolly, and bore herself with perfect selfpossession, but her more youthful sister and accomplice was deeply affected, and wept bitterly during the progress of the examination.

A FRIGHTFUL SLIDE.

Three Boys Roll a Distance of Three Handred Feet and Escape Death-A Most Remarkable Accident.

The very slippery condition of the thoroughfares for the past two days, occasioned by the frozen snow, has been the cause of numerous falls and accidents to pedestriaus, and in some instances serious injury has resulted to those who tumbled while threading their way over the slippery surface.

We hear of a very serious accident of this nature occurring last evening about 6 o'clock to three youths, one of whom is doubtless injured beyond recovery. At the hour mentioned above, a son of Mr. Kramer, twelve years of age, and two boys named Ballman and Rice, aged respectively eight and nine years, were playing in a yard on Fuller street, on the top of Mt. Adams. While engaged in their sport they noticed the escape of a chicken from its coop in the yard, and at once gave chase to secure it, young Kramer leading. The chicken flew over the fence, and alighting ran over to the side of a steep hill, which is at least three hundred feet from its apex to its base.

The boys, in the impetuosity of the chase, paying no attention to the slippery condition of the hill, started down the declivity, and before making many steps lost their balance, fell, and commenced sliding down the hill with fearful velocity. Kramer, who could not arrest his rapid flight, went to the bottom of the hill, while the other two by rolling over managed to arrest their headlong flight when about half way down.

On approaching Kramer it was found that he was unconscious, his skull badly fractured and his body covered with bruises, and such is his present condition that no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Rice escaped with a severe bruise on the head, and Baldman was fortunate enough to be uninjured. The wonder is that the trio were not instantly killed in their terrible descent. -Cicninnati Times, 27th inst.

DISASTER IN NEW YORK BAY.

Explosion of a Tug-boat One Man Drowned and Seven Others Injured. The New York Post of Saturday evening

The explosion of the boller of a tug in the bay has been reported. The following details of the affair have since been gathered:-Shertly after nine o'clock this morning, while the tugboat Phoulx was towing the ship Hudson, from London, just outside the bar, the boiler of the tug exploded with terrific force.

The boat was badly shattered, and sank within fifteen minutes after the explosion. The fireman, Henry McDermott, was undoubtedly blown into the water and lost, as he has not since been seen. The rest of the crew, after being blown into the air, fell back upon the deck of the boat, from which they were rescued by the boats of the Hudson.

They were taken to the tug Baxter, which came to their assistance, and were brought by her to this city. A boat was sent to the ship Ocean Queen, which was passing the scene of the disaster just after its occurrence, and the ship's surgeon taken to the Baxter, where he rendered medical assistance to the sufferers.

The captain of the Phonix, Patrick Monks.

had his head cut and was severely bruised His injuries are not, however, thought to be serious.

The Phornix was valued at $17,000, and was uninsured. The boiler of the boat was new, and is claimed to have been in good order.

How our Minister Releves his Letter-bags from America.

The Paris Journal des Debats thus describes the ceremonies attendant upon the transmission of Minister Washburne's correspondence:

"Every Tuesday, at 10 o'clock in the morning," it says, "the bugle-blast, heralding a parley, is blown on the Sevres bridge, and the white flag is unfurled. A Prussian officer, in irreproacha-ble attire, gloved and booted as for the drawing-room, advances over the bridge until he reaches the broken arch, and saluting, addresses his speech to the French officers in waiting:-

Gentlemen, I have the honor to salute you. "Sir, we have the honor to salute you." Gentlemen. I have the honor to inform you that I am intrusted with the mission of placing into your hands Mr. Washburne's mall."

"Bir, we shall have the honor of fetching the package. Then follows an exchange of military salutes. and the French, crossing the river in a small boat, receive from the Prussian officer the diplomatic documents. Then come fresh salutes, then a return within the lines, and, if necessary firing is recommenced as soon as the white flag is lowered. Thus enter into Paris just now the official despatches of the great republic.

Kate-Oh yes, she has been quite sick; but the day after Mrs. C. was here Ma sent for a bottle of PLAN-TATION BITTERS, and has taken it three times a day since. It worked like a charm, and Ma says she is better and stronger than she has been for years. She thinks it the best medicine in the world, and wants me to take some; but it is so awful bitter I do not like it. I have taken it several times, but it gives me such an appetite that I tell ma her mince pies will not last long.
